

Frozen Products

Our frozen products are processed just a few hours after harvesting. For doing so, we rely on IQF (Individually Quick Freezing), the best method for the production of frozen products. Not only does it preserve vitamins and minerals of fruits and berries, but it also protects the product's colours and flavours. Additionally, we are specialists for private label packaging and organic products.

FRUITS, BERRIES Our wide selection of frozen fruits and berries ranges from A like apple over B like Blueberry to C like Cherry. Due to the short itinerary between harvesting and processing, our products can be frozen at the optimum level of ripeness. They not only convince with their taste, but also score higher in terms of vitamin content than non-frozen products.

MUSHROOMS In the case of wild growing mushrooms, which are freshly available only for a limited amount of time, frozen products offer the possibility to use them all year round. These include, among others, chanterelles, morels and truffles, but also cultivated varieties such as champignons and shiitake.
